

What happened to America, the freedom to choose, if this regulation is put into place United States citizens loss the opportunity to choose, create, innovate, and all together invent. Only allowing Corporations to do any of that "if they wish to". Trying to get rid of open source development will greatly reduce the quality of innovations. By getting rid of open source development of any idea will leave new technology to Corporate America, which just develops new ideas only if they will make a lot of money of that idea, and it is with-in their budget to do so. Where open source development brings together the minds of all who wish to help out with the project. The cost of budget never falls into play, they are creating their ideas freely with the help of others. By working together freely, they are removing the restrictions that Corporations and Organizations have when developing an idea. The idea of evolution is to move forward with something new coming at us. ! By forcing United States Citizens to limit their choice to your left or right hand. You will be moving us further and further away from evolution and guiding us to de-evolution. We don't wish to choose from your left or right hand. We wish to choose from the hands of the idea makers. More restrictions -> limited ideas -> halt in technology. Don't be the ones that kill the Creators of your life time. If you pass these regulations; there would be no difference then going into the past and killing Albert Einstein.
